

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

KAREN CLARK and SOFIA MONTANO,

Plaintiffs,

v.

TRINATURK.COM, LT2, Inc., and DOES 1-5,

Defendants.

Civil Action No.

COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY
AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

Plaintiffs Karen Clark and Sofia Montano (“Plaintiffs”), by and through undersigned counsel, seek a permanent injunction requiring a change in trinatork.com and LT2, Inc.’s (“Defendants” or “TrinaTurk”) policies to cause their website to become, and remain, accessible to individuals with visual disabilities. In support thereof, Plaintiffs respectfully assert as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. In a September 25, 2018 letter to U.S. House of Representative Ted Budd, U.S. Department of Justice Assistant Attorney General Stephen E. Boyd confirmed that public accommodations must make the websites they own, operate, or control equally accessible to individuals with disabilities. Assistant Attorney General Boyd’s letter provides:

The Department [of Justice] first articulated its interpretation that the ADA applies to public accommodations’ websites over 20 years ago. This interpretation is consistent with the ADA’s title III requirement that the goods, services, privileges, or activities provided by places of public accommodation be equally accessible to people with disabilities.

See Letter from Assistant Attorney General Stephen E. Boyd, U.S. Department of Justice, to Congressman Ted Budd, U.S. House of Representatives (Sept. 25, 2018) (available at <https://images.cutimes.com/contrib/content/uploads/documents/413/152136/adaletter.pdf>) (last accessed May 3, 2019).

2. Plaintiff Sofia Montano is legally blind. Ms. Montano has retinitis pigmentosa, which is a group of inherited disorders that cause degeneration of the retina and vision loss. Ms. Montano has progressively lost her vision since childhood and is now blind. Today, Ms. Montano uses screen readers, including the built-in Voiceover capability of her iPhone, combined with JAWS and NVDA software, to navigate the internet.

3. Plaintiff Karen Clark is totally blind. Two weeks after Ms. Clark's twelfth birthday, she was hit by a car. Both of Ms. Clark's optic nerves detached in the accident, and she has been completely blind ever since. Ms. Clark uses VoiceOver for her iPhone 8 and JAWS to navigate the internet.

4. Screen reader "software translates the visual internet into an auditory equivalent. At a rapid pace, the software reads the content of a webpage to the user." Andrews v. Blick Art Materials, LLC, 17-CV-767, 2017 WL 6542466, at *6 (E.D.N.Y. Dec. 21, 2017) (J. Weinstein).

The screen reading software uses auditory cues to allow a visually impaired user to effectively use websites. For example, when using the visual internet, a seeing user learns that a link may be "clicked," which will bring her to another webpage, through visual cues, such as a change in the color of the text (often text is turned from black to blue). When the sighted user's cursor hovers over the link, it changes from an arrow symbol to a hand.

The screen reading software uses auditory—rather than visual—cues to relay this same information. When a sight impaired individual reaches a link that may be "clicked on," the software reads the link to the user, and after reading the text of the link says the word "clickable."...Through a series of auditory cues read aloud by the screen reader, the visually impaired user can navigate a website by listening and responding with her keyboard.

Id. at *6-7. See American Foundation for the Blind, Screen Readers, available at <https://www.afb.org/node/16207/screen-readers> (last accessed May 3, 2019) (discussing screen readers and how they work).

5. Defendants offer a large variety of women's clothing, accessories, and more. See <https://www.trinaturk.com/> (last accessed May 3, 2019.)

6. Defendants' website, <https://www.trinaturk.com/> ("Website"), is owned and controlled by LT2, Inc. and its affiliates. See Terms and Conditions available at <https://www.trinaturk.com/terms.html> (last accessed May 3, 2019).

7. Consumers may shop for and purchase a variety of women's clothing, accessories, and more through Defendants' Website. "Trina Turk has evolved into an iconic lifestyle brand, celebrating California style with eleven annual collections of chic women's ready-to-wear and accessories, including jewelry, handbags, eyewear and footwear, plus swimwear, activewear, a Mr. Turk menswear line, and residential décor and textiles." <https://www.trinaturk.com/about-trina.html> (last accessed May 3 2019).

8. In addition to researching and purchasing Defendants' products and services from the comfort and convenience of their homes, consumers may also use Defendants' Website to contact customer care by email, review important legal notices like Defendants' Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions, and more.

9. Defendants are responsible for the policies, practices, and procedures concerning the Website's development and maintenance.

10. Unfortunately, Defendants deny approximately 8.1 million Americans who have difficulty seeing access to its Website's goods, content, and services because the Website is largely incompatible with the screen reader programs these Americans use to navigate an increasingly ecommerce world. See Press Release, United States Census Bureau, Nearly 1 in 5 People Have a Disability in the U.S., Census Bureau Reports Report Released to Coincide with 22nd Anniversary of the ADA (Jul. 25, 2012), available at <https://www.census.gov/newsroom/releases/archives/miscellaneous/cb12-134.html> (last accessed May 3, 2019) (“About 8.1 million people had difficulty seeing, including 2.0 million who were blind or unable to see.”).

11. Plaintiffs bring this civil rights action against Defendants to enforce Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq. (“Title III”), which requires, among other things, that a public accommodation (1) not deny persons with disabilities the benefits of its services, facilities, privileges and advantages; (2) provide such persons with benefits that are equal to those provided to nondisabled persons; (3) provide auxiliary aids and services—including electronic services for use with a computer screen reading program—where necessary to ensure effective communication with individuals with a visual disability, and to ensure that such persons are not excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than sighted individuals; and (4) utilize administrative methods, practices, and policies that provide persons with disabilities equal access to online content.

12. By failing to make their Website available in a manner compatible with computer screen reader programs, Defendants, a public accommodation subject to Title III, deprive blind and visually-impaired individuals the benefits of their online goods, content, and services—all benefits it affords nondisabled individuals—thereby increasing the sense of isolation and stigma among these Americans that Title III was meant to redress.

13. Because Defendants’ Website is not and has never been accessible, and because upon information and belief Defendants do not have, and have never had, an adequate corporate policy that is reasonably calculated to cause their Website to become and remain accessible, Plaintiffs invoke 42 U.S.C. § 12188(a)(2) and seek a permanent injunction requiring that:

- a) Defendants retain a qualified consultant acceptable to Plaintiffs (“Web Accessibility Consultant”) who shall assist it in improving the accessibility of its Website, including all third-party content and plug-ins, so the goods and services on the Website may be equally accessed and enjoyed by individuals with vision related disabilities;
- b) Defendants work with the Web Accessibility Consultant to ensure that all employees involved in website and content development be given web accessibility training on a biennial basis, including onsite training to create accessible content at the design and development stages;
- c) Defendants work with the Web Accessibility Consultant to perform an automated accessibility audit on a periodic basis to evaluate whether Defendants’ Website may be equally accessed and enjoyed by individuals with vision related disabilities on an ongoing basis;
- d) Defendants work with the Web Accessibility Consultant to perform end-user accessibility/usability testing on at least a quarterly basis with said testing to be performed by humans who are blind or have low vision, or who have training and experience in the manner in which persons who are blind use a screen reader to navigate, browse, and conduct business on websites, in addition to the testing, if applicable, that is performed using semi-automated tools;
- e) Defendants incorporate all of the Web Accessibility Consultant’s recommendations within sixty (60) days of receiving the recommendations;
- f) Defendants work with the Web Accessibility Consultant to create a Web Accessibility Policy that will be posted on its Website, along with an e-mail address, instant messenger, and toll-free phone number to report accessibility-related problems;
- g) Defendants directly link from the footer on each page of the Website, a statement that indicates that Defendants are making efforts to maintain and increase the accessibility of their Website to ensure that persons with disabilities have full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, and accommodations of the Defendants through the Website;
- h) Defendants accompany the public policy statement with an accessible means of submitting accessibility questions and problems, including an accessible form to submit feedback or an email address to contact representatives knowledgeable about the Web Accessibility Policy;
- i) Defendants provide a notice, prominently and directly linked from the footer on each page of the Website, soliciting feedback from visitors to the Website on how the accessibility of the Website can be improved. The link shall provide a method to provide feedback, including an accessible form to submit feedback or an email address to contact representatives knowledgeable about the Web Accessibility Policy;

- j) Defendants provide a copy of the Web Accessibility Policy to all web content personnel, contractors responsible for web content, and Client Service Operations call center agents (“CSO Personnel”) for the Website;
- k) Defendants train no fewer than three of its CSO Personnel to automatically escalate calls from users with disabilities who encounter difficulties using the Website. Defendants shall have trained no fewer than three of its CSO personnel to timely assist such users with disabilities within CSO published hours of operation. Defendants shall establish procedures for promptly directing requests for assistance to such personnel including notifying the public that customer assistance is available to users with disabilities and describing the process to obtain that assistance;
- l) Defendants modify existing bug fix policies, practices, and procedures to include the elimination of bugs that cause the Website to be inaccessible to users of screen reader technology;
- m) Plaintiffs, their counsel and their experts monitor the Website for up to two (2) years after the Mutually Agreed Upon Consultant validates the Website are free of accessibility errors/violations to ensure Defendants have adopted and implemented adequate accessibility policies. To this end, Plaintiffs, through their counsel and their experts, shall be entitled to consult with the Web Accessibility Consultant at their discretion, and to review any written material, including but not limited to any recommendations the Websites Accessibility Consultant provides Defendants.

14. Web-based technologies have features and content that are modified on a daily, and in some instances an hourly, basis, and a one time “fix” to an inaccessible website will not cause the website to remain accessible without a corresponding change in corporate policies related to those web-based technologies. To evaluate whether an inaccessible website has been rendered accessible, and whether corporate policies related to web-based technologies have been changed in a meaningful manner that will cause the website to remain accessible, the website must be reviewed on a periodic basis using both automated accessibility screening tools and end user testing by disabled individuals.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

15. The claims alleged arise under Title III such that this Court's jurisdiction is invoked pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 and 42 U.S.C. § 12188.

16. Defendants attempt to, and indeed do so, participate in the Commonwealth's economic life by clearly performing business over the Internet. Through its Website, Defendants enter into contracts for the sale of their products with residents of Pennsylvania. These online sales contracts involve, and indeed require, Defendants' knowing and repeated transmission of computer files over the Internet. See Access Now Inc. v. Otter Products, LLC, 280 F.Supp.3d 287 (D. Mass. Dec. 4, 2017) (exercising personal jurisdiction over forum plaintiff's website accessibility claims against out-of-forum website operator); Access Now, Inc. v. Sportswear, Inc., 298 F.Supp.3d 296 (D. Mass. 2018) (same).

17. Defendants' participation in the Commonwealth hinges, in significant part, on Pennsylvania consumers, like Plaintiff Clark, accessing their Website and purchasing Defendants' products and services. Unlike, for example, a winery that cannot sell and ship wine to consumers in certain states, Defendants purposefully avail themselves of the benefits and advantages of operating an online business open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days per year to Pennsylvania residents.

18. As described in additional detail below, Plaintiffs were injured when they attempted to access Defendants' Website from their homes, including Plaintiff Clark in this District, but encountered barriers that denied them full and equal access to Defendants' online services.

19. Venue in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) because this is the judicial district in which a substantial part of the acts and omissions giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred.

PARTIES

20. Plaintiff Karen Clark is and, at all times relevant hereto, has been a resident of Meadville, Pennsylvania, located in Crawford County. Plaintiff is and, at all times relevant hereto, has been legally blind and is therefore a member of a protected class under the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12102(2) and the regulations implementing the ADA set forth at 28 CFR §§ 36.101 et seq.

21. Plaintiff Sofia Montano is and, at all times relevant hereto, has been a resident of Las Vegas, Nevada and Bristol County, Massachusetts. Plaintiff Montano is and, at all times relevant hereto, has been legally blind and is therefore a member of a protected class under the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12102(2) and the regulations implementing the ADA set forth at 28 CFR §§ 36.101 et seq.

22. Defendants are a California corporation with their principle place of business at 3025 West Mission Road, Alhambra, CA 91803.

23. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of Defendants Does 1 through 5, are currently unknown to Plaintiffs. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and based thereon allege, that each of the Defendants designated herein as a Doe is legally responsible in some manner for the events and happenings referred to herein and caused injury and damage proximately thereby to Plaintiffs as hereinafter alleged. Plaintiffs will seek leave of court to amend the Complaint to reflect the true names and capacities of the defendants designated hereinafter as DOES when their identities have been determined.

24. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and based thereon allege, that at all times mentioned herein, each of the Defendants was the agent, servant, employee, alter-ego, co-venturer, and co-conspirator of each of the remaining Defendants, and was at all times herein mentioned, acting within the course, scope, purpose, and with the consent, knowledge, ratification, and authorization of such agency, employment, joint venture, and conspiracy.

FACTS APPLICABLE TO ALL CLAIMS

25. While the increasing pervasiveness of digital information presents an unprecedented opportunity to increase access to goods, content, and services for people with perceptual or motor disabilities, website developers and web content developers often implement digital technologies without regard to whether those technologies can be accessed by individuals with disabilities. This is notwithstanding the fact that accessible technology is both readily available and cost effective.

DEFENDANTS' ONLINE CONTENT

26. Defendants' Website allows consumers to research and purchase Defendants' various products from the comfort and convenience of their own homes.

27. The Website also enables consumers to contact customer service by phone and email, review important legal notices like Defendants' Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions, review free sale offers, and more.

HARM TO PLAINTIFFS

28. Plaintiffs attempted to access the Website from their homes in Crawford County, Pennsylvania and Las Vegas, Nevada. Unfortunately, because of Defendants' failure to build their Website in a manner that is compatible with screen reader programs, Plaintiffs were unable to understand, and thus is denied the benefit of much of the content and services they wish to access on the Website.

29. Plaintiffs attempted to access the Website using the same screen reader programs, including Apple VoiceOver and/or JAWS on their computer with Windows 10, that they normally use to browse the Internet.

30. VoiceOver is “a full-featured screen reader built into macOS that speaks the text in documents and windows, and describes aloud what appears on your screen...With VoiceOver, you control your Mac primarily with a keyboard, refreshable braille display, or trackpad. You use the VoiceOver cursor—which appears as a dark rectangular outline—to move around the screen, select buttons and other controls, and to read and edit text.” See Apple, VoiceOver Getting Started Guide, available at <https://help.apple.com/voiceover/info/guide/10.12/#/vo2681> (last accessed April 17, 2019).

The VoiceOver cursor—a dark rectangular outline—focused on the word "Accessibility" on screen.

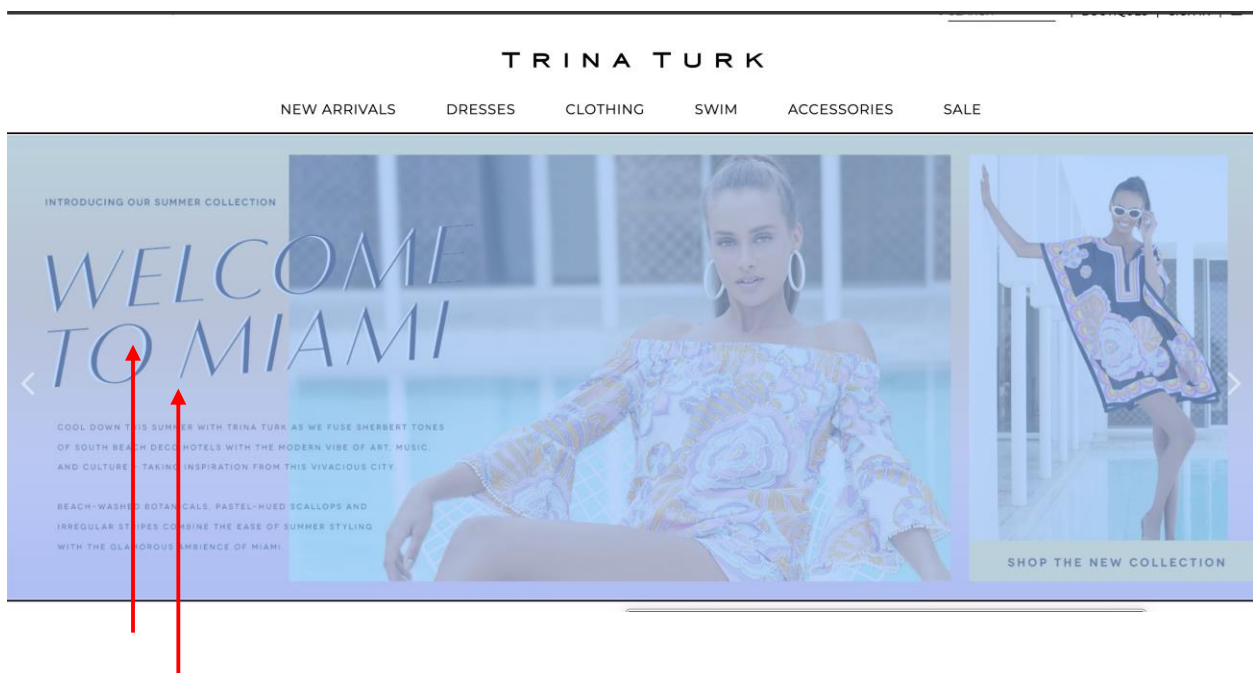

This caption matches the alternative text that Apple provides in its VoiceOver Getting Started Guide. It illustrates the type of sufficiently descriptive alternative text that screen reader users require to fully and equally access Defendants' Website.

31. JAWS (Job Access with Speech) is a computer screen reader program for Microsoft Windows that allows blind and visually impaired users to read the screen wither with a text-to-speech output or by a refreshable Braille display. JAWS is the most popular screen reading technology (JAWS) currently on the market. JAWS reads to the user the content of the website as they navigate it with arrows.

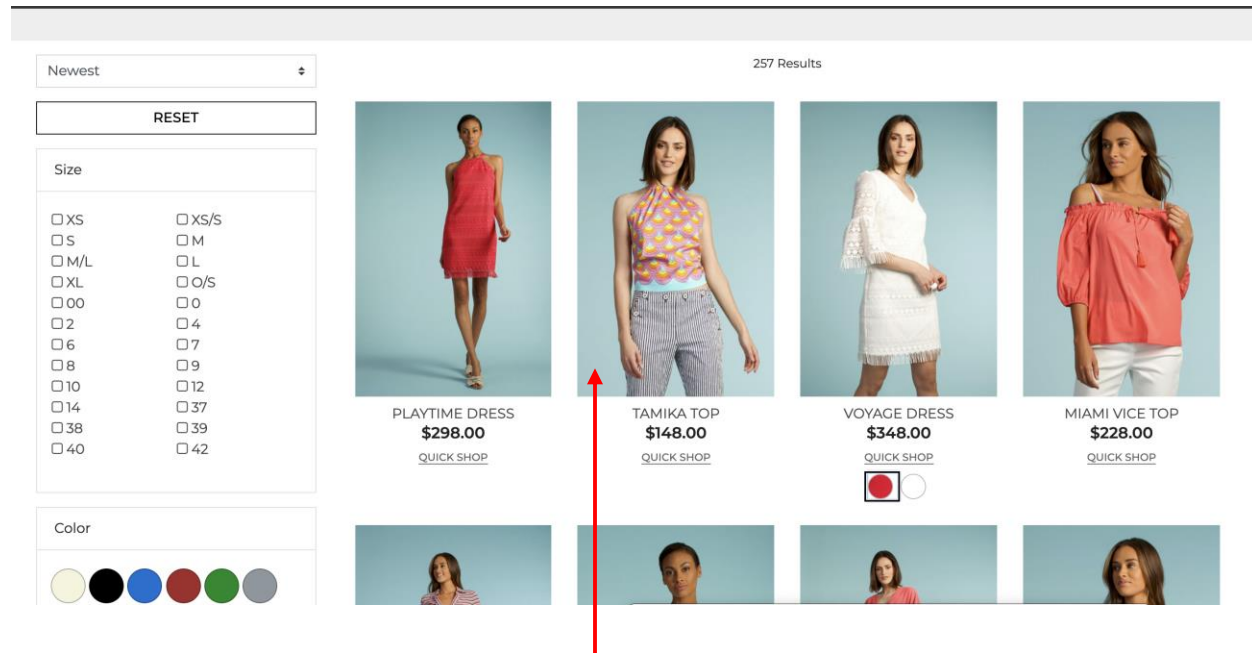

32. Unfortunately, as a result of visiting Defendants' Website from Crawford County, Pennsylvania, and Las Vegas, Nevada and from investigations performed on their behalf, Plaintiffs found Defendants' Website to be largely unusable due to various barriers that deny them full and equal access to Defendants' online content and services. For example:

a. Defendants' website fails to provide an appropriate text alternative provided for the main banner image on the webpage. Instead, the image only provides the alternative text of "Welcome" which is read to the user. The remainder of the information which is visually presenting the summer collection to the user is inaccessible. This is demonstrated below.

b. Defendants' website is also difficult to navigate because the dress colors from the links are not programatically determinable. When the screen-reader announces the links for the different colors of the clothing item, it is only able to detect the name of the piece of clothing and is unable to present the difference in dress color to the user

("https://www.trinaturk.com/womens/").

33. These barriers, and others, deny Plaintiffs full and equal access to all of the services the Website offers, and now deter them from attempting to use the Website. Still, Plaintiffs would like to, and intend to, attempt to access the Website in the future to research the products and services the Website offers, or to test the Website for compliance with the ADA.

34. If the Website was accessible, i.e. if Defendants removed the access barriers described above, Plaintiffs could independently research and purchase Defendants' products and access their other online content and services.

35. Though Defendants may have centralized policies regarding the maintenance and operation of its Website, Defendants have never had a plan or policy that is reasonably calculated to make the Website fully accessible to, and independently usable by, individuals with vision related disabilities. As a result, the complained of access barriers are permanent in nature and likely to persist.

36. The law requires that Defendants reasonably accommodate Plaintiffs' disability by removing these existing access barriers. Removal of the barriers identified above is readily achievable and may be carried out without much difficulty or expense.

37. Plaintiffs have been, and in the absence of an injunction will continue to be, injured by Defendants' failure to provide their online content and services in a manner that is compatible with screen reader technology.

DEFENDANTS' KNOWLEDGE OF WEBSITE ACCESSIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

38. Defendants have long known that screen reader technology is necessary for individuals with visual disabilities to access its online content and services, and that it is legally responsible for providing the same in a manner that is compatible with these auxiliary aids.

39. Indeed, the "Department [of Justice] first articulated its interpretation that the ADA applies to public accommodations' websites over 20 years ago." As described above, on September 25, 2018, Assistant Attorney General Stephen E. Boyd confirmed nothing about the ADA, nor the Department's enforcement of it, has changed this interpretation.

THE PARTIES HAVE NO ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES TO PURSUE

40. There is no DOJ administrative proceeding that could provide Plaintiffs with Title III injunctive relief.

41. While the DOJ has rulemaking authority and can bring enforcement actions in court, Congress has not authorized it to provide an adjudicative administrative process to provide Plaintiffs with relief.

42. Plaintiffs allege violations of existing and longstanding statutory and regulatory requirements to provide auxiliary aids or services necessary to ensure effective communication, and courts routinely decide these types of effective communication matters.

43. Resolution of Plaintiffs' claim does not require the Court to unravel intricate, technical facts, but rather involves consideration of facts within the conventional competence of the courts, e.g. (a) whether Defendants offer content and services on the Website, and (b) whether Plaintiffs can access the content and services.

SUBSTANTIVE VIOLATION

Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq.

44. The assertions contained in the previous paragraphs are incorporated by reference.

45. Defendants' Website is a place of public accommodation within the definition of Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12181\(7\). See Otter Products, 280 F.Supp.3d 293, n.4 ("Several courts have held that a website can be treated as a public accommodation under Title III of the ADA."); see also 1-800 Flowers.com, 2018 WL 839381, *1 ("Defendant does not dispute that its websites are places of public accommodation subject to regulation by Title III of the ADA.").

46. In the broadest terms, the ADA prohibits discrimination on the basis of a disability in the full and equal enjoyment of goods and services of any place of public accommodation. 42 U.S.C. § 12182\(a\). Thus, to the extent Defendants do not provide Plaintiffs with full and equal access to its Website, they have violated the ADA.

47. In more specific terms, Title III of the ADA imposes statutory and regulatory requirements to ensure persons with disabilities are not excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than other individuals as a result of the absence of auxiliary aids and services. 42 U.S.C. § 12182\(b\)\(2\)\(A\); 28 C.F.R. §§ 36.303\(a\), \(c\). Under these provisions, public accommodations must furnish appropriate auxiliary aids and services that comply with their effective communication obligations. Id.

48. Auxiliary aids and services are necessary when their absence effectively excludes an individual from participating in or benefiting from a service, or fails to provide a like experience to the disabled person.

49. Auxiliary aids and services include, but are not limited to, audio recordings, screen reader software, magnification software, optical readers, secondary auditory programs, large print materials, accessible electronic and information technology, other effective methods of making visually delivered materials available to individuals who are blind or have low vision, and other similar services and actions. 28 C.F.R. §§ 36.303(b)(2), (4).

50. In order to be effective, auxiliary aids and services must be provided in accessible formats, in a timely manner, and in such a way as to protect the privacy and independence of the individual with a disability. 28 C.F.R. §§ 36.303(c)(1)(ii). To this end, the Ninth Circuit has explained, “assistive technology is not frozen in time: as technology advances, [] accommodations should advance as well.” Enyart v. Nat’l Conference of Bar Examiners, Inc., 630 F.3d 1153, 1163 (9th Cir. 2011).

51. By failing to provide their Website’s content and services in a manner that is compatible with auxiliary aids, Defendants have engaged, directly, or through contractual, licensing, or other arrangements, in illegal disability discrimination, as defined by Title III, including without limitation:

(a) denying individuals with visual disabilities opportunities to participate in and benefit from the goods, content, and services available on the Website;

(b) affording individuals with visual disabilities access to the Website that is not equal to, or effective as, that afforded others;

(c) utilizing methods of administration that (i) have the effect of discriminating on the basis of disability; or (ii) perpetuate the discrimination of others who are subject to common administrative control;

(d) denying individuals with visual disabilities effective communication, thereby excluding or otherwise treating them differently than others; and/or

(e) failing to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures where necessary to afford its services, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to individuals with visual disabilities.

52. Defendants have violated Title III by, without limitation, failing to make the Website's services accessible by screen reader programs, thereby denying individuals with visual disabilities the benefits of the Website, providing them with benefits that are not equal to those they provide others, and denying them effective communication.

53. Defendants have further violated Title III by, without limitation, utilizing administrative methods, practices, and policies that allow the Website to be made available without consideration of consumers who can only access the company's online goods, content, and services with screen reader programs.

54. Making their online goods, content, and services compatible with screen readers does not change the content of Defendants' Website or result in making the Website different, but enables individuals with visual disabilities to access the Website Defendants already provide.

55. Defendants' ongoing violations of Title III have caused, and in the absence of an injunction will continue to cause, harm to Plaintiffs and other individuals with visual disabilities.

56. Plaintiffs' claims are warranted by existing law or by non-frivolous argument for extending, modifying, or reversing existing law or for establishing new law.

57. Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12188 and the remedies, procedures and rights set forth and incorporated therein, Plaintiffs request relief as set forth below.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for:

(A) A Declaratory Judgment that at the commencement of this action Defendants were in violation of the specific requirements of Title III of the ADA described above, and the relevant implementing regulations of the ADA, in that Defendants took no action that was reasonably calculated to ensure that the Website is fully accessible to, and independently usable by, individuals with visual disabilities;

(B) A permanent injunction pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12188\(a\)\(2\) and 28 CFR § 36.504\(a\) which directs Defendants to take all steps necessary to bring the Website into full compliance with the requirements set forth in the ADA, and its implementing regulations, so that the Website is fully accessible to, and independently usable by, blind individuals, and which further directs that the Court shall retain jurisdiction for a period to be determined to ensure that Defendants have adopted and are following an institutional policy that will in fact cause them to remain fully in compliance with the law—the specific injunctive relief Plaintiffs' request is described more fully in paragraph 13 above.

(C) Payment of actual, statutory, and punitive damages, as the Court deems proper;

(D) Payment of costs of suit;

(E) Payment of reasonable attorneys' fees, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12205 and 28 CFR § 36.505, including costs of monitoring Defendants' compliance with the judgment (see Access

Now, Inc. v. Lax World, LLC, No. 1:17-cv-10976-DJC (D. Mass. Apr. 17, 2018) (ECF 11) (“Plaintiffs, as the prevailing party, may file a fee petition before the Court surrenders jurisdiction. Pursuant to Pennsylvania v. Delaware Valley Citizens’ Council for Clean Air, 478 U.S. 546, 559 (1986), supplemented, 483 U.S. 711 (1987), and Garrity v. Sununu, 752 F.2d 727, 738-39 (1st Cir. 1984), the fee petition may include costs to monitor Defendants’ compliance with the permanent injunction.”); see also Gniewkowski v. Lettuce Entertain You Enterprises, Inc., Case No. 2:16-cv-01898-AJS (W.D. Pa. Jan. 11, 2018) (ECF 191) (same);

(F) Whatever other relief the Court deems just, equitable and appropriate; and

(G) An Order retaining jurisdiction over this case until Defendants have complied with the Court’s Orders.
